and a

Call for Papers
(Resident and Faculty Papers welcome)

Please send titles and abstracts to Crystal Upshaw at cupshaw@westernu.edu
Submissions should be sent by July 15, 2007.

This is a first in what we plan as a series of major research information and skill building workshops sponsored by OPTI-West. Please RSVP to Crystal Upshaw, OPTI-West Research Coordinator, as soon as possible (July 30th at the latest). We plan some great sessions including presentations on developing OMT research at the practice level, exploring national funding opportunities, how to develop collaborative programs, resources available through the AOA, Osteopathic Research Center, American Academy of Osteopathy, and OPTI-West. Our keynote speaker will be Dr. Paul Krueger, University of Medicine and Dentistry of New Jersey. You will not want to miss this.

Student and faculty papers will be presented the morning of the second day, Wednesday, August 29th.
